BIG DISTRICT BONSPIEL OPENS MONDAY NEXT

Around forty to fifty rinks are expected to take part in the big annual Crows' Nest district bonspiel, which opens at the Blairmore arena on Monday next and will conclude on Saturday.

Cranbrook, Michel, Fernie, Medicine Hat, Coleman, Macleod, Lethbridge, Grannum, Staveland, Champion, H'gh River, Nanton, Pincher Creek, Hillcrest and Bellevue will be well represented.

The annual banquet will be served at the Cosmopolitan hotel on Wednesday evening, in addition to which there will be a number of private social functions.

All details of arrangements are about completed, under the very capable supervision of Milt Condon, the bonspiel secretary.

Trophies to be competed for include the Magrath, International Coal & Coke Co., Triton-Wood Co., Lethbridge Brewery Co. and the Grand Challenge cups, added to which will be prizes for those taking second, third and fourth places in the various events.

BELLEVUE-HILLCREST CONCERT

The young people of St. Cyril's parish, Bellevue, assisted by their friends from Hillcrest, put on a concert in Cole's theatre on Tuesday night of this week.

In spite of the bad weather and blocked roads, a fair sized audience witnessed the performance, which was composed of four snappy one-act plays with dancing and reciting specialties.

Bellevue people had for their share of the acting the following items: "Troubled by Ghosts," "Mother Goose's Geese," and "The Wagon Builders." The Hillcrest people put on "The Jumping Jacks," the "Caledonian Dances" and "The Royal Order of Ham and Eggs." Miss Agnes Truba gave a clever recitation, and Doris McLafferty contributed some fine violin work. Mr. Tom Beynon supplied the piano accompaniment.

The Bellevue children and people taking part were as follows: Marie and Bony McLain; Katie, Anne and Veronica Perozak; Amelia and Ardunio Fidenato; Joseph, Gerrard and Mary McIntyre; John and Joe Morris; Dan, Hughie, Lawrence and Dennis McLafferty; Jimmy Carl, Frank Lamey, Isobel and Nympha Zolli, Helen Kubasek, Sophie Miranovitz, Angelica Hovan, Helen Byrie, G. Blake and Mrs. Blake.

The present custom in England of driving on the left side of the road may be traced back to antiquity. In yore olden days, when horses were ridden and spears used, it was vitally important that the enemy be on the right. To the left hand fell the duty of guiding the mount; the thrust of the spear and the backward sweep of the sword could only be accomplished by the man who was right-hand mounted.

When rules were forgotten, it is wondered how the southpaw fitted into the picture.

Pat Wouldn't Touch It

Pasted on a window of the book-publisher's store was the sign "Porter Wanted," and in the window itself, on a pile of books, the placard: "Dickens Works All This Week for $4." The able-looking Irishman read first the sign and then the placard. "Dickens may take the job! Dickens can work all the week for four dollars if he wants to, but I'll not touch it. Ye'd better kape Dickens."

MIZPAH TEMPLE PYTHIAN SISTERS ELECT OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of Mizpah Temple No. 9, Pythian Sisters, held at Hillcrest on December the 10th, the following officers were elected for 1930:

Past Chief—Sister A. Mansell.
M. E. C.—Sister E. Stutchbury.
E. Senior—Sister C. Cassagrande.
E. Junior—Sister I. Taylor.
Manager—Sister L. Makin.
M. of R. & C.—Sister T. Gorton.
M. of F.—Sister G. Thomson.
Protector—Sister M. Clarke.
Guard—Sister F. Makin.
I. O. Sister M. Atkinson.

Installation will take place on Tuesday evening next.

CARD OF THANKS

The Crows' Nest Chapter of the I. O. E. takes this opportunity of thanking the members of the cast of "The Rosary" for their kind donation of $35.00, to be used for charitable purposes.

The Chapter also wishes to thank the Blairmore Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. for its able assistance in making the sale of poppies a success, the proceeds of which is also being used for relief work.

The relief done by the Chapter usually takes the form of providing clothing, etc., in needy cases.

POST OFFICE MAY DEMAND RETURN ADDRESS

OTTAWA, Jan. 4.—There is a possibility that the post office department will make it compulsory for mailers to place a return address on their mailings. If this order is carried out it will mean a saving in the neighborhood of $500,000 annually to the government. Records of the department reveal that this amount is lost annually because of careless mail addressing mail.

Considerable expense is incurred by the department, it is said, in giving a special directory service to some millions of pieces of mail which are carelessly addressed. A suggestion which has been forwarded is a campaign among school children as a means of eliminating some of their lost time, effort and expenses in handling mail from careless patrons. The proper wrapping and addressing of mail more than once has been stressed by postal officials, but there are still some patrons of the service who fail to heed the advice of the post office department.

It is the post office department, or in the final analysis, the tax payer, who pays an annual toll for the support of this malignant growth, which amounts in the thousands of dollars.

TOURIST INVASION

BRINGS $300,000,000

Final estimates of the tourist influx during 1929 indicate that the record invasion of 1928 was better during the current year. No less than 12,000,000 motorists are reputed to have come into Canada this year, riding in 3,700,000 automobiles. How important this vast army is to the Dominion may be judged from the immense sums left in this country. Those who travelled the trail of '29 are said to have spent $300,000,000 in Canada, as compared with about $275,000,000 the previous year.

Three Chicago papers, the Times, Post and News, state that more than 1000 Chicago business men, prohibition officials, politicians and bootleggers are under investigation in connection with the purported diversion of $50,000,000 worth of "industrial alcohol" to illegal channels. The papers state that Alexander Jamie, chief of the Washington prohibition unit, and under cover agents, discovered the alleged gigantic conspiracy after six months' work.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

France's 1930 naval budget calls for the construction of one cruiser, six destroyers and six submarines. These projects were adopted by the Chamber of Deputies.

Poland is indulging in more flying. The airplane at Kalandia, ten kilometers north of Jerusalem, is being enlarged. Twenty dunams of land have been acquired for the purpose.

The past year has been a busy one for the manufacture of clay products in Saskatchewan, according to Professor W. G. Worcester, of the ceramics department, of the University of Saskatchewan.

Resident in Edmonton for 60 years, and one of Western Canada's earliest pioneers, Mrs. Kenneth McDonald died there at the age of 101 years. She was born at Cumberland House, Sask., on May 27, 1827.

The Aeronautics Society has issued a statement that the projected North Pole expedition in the dirigible Graf Zeppelin has been called off for 1930, but that it is fully expected for 1931, but will be in 1931.

Fire, believed to have been caused by a defective fuse, destroyed the government radio station at Nome, Alaska. A small amount of equipment was saved and communication again established with St. Michaels, about 250 miles away.

Convinced that there is no hope of finding alive Pilot W. C. Cane and Mechanic George Lizzotte, employees of the Curtis-Wright Aircraft Co., lost in Northern Quebec for nearly three months, the National Defence Department ordered the detachment of five Canadian Air Force planes to abandon the search.

Logging in Northern

Alberta Is Slack

Lumber Carried Over From Last

Logging will be slack in northern Alberta this winter and there will not be the usual stir at the lumber camps. According to the manager of one lumber company, not more than 25 per cent of the ordinary winter's logging will be done this coming season. The chief reason for this is the enormous carry-over of lumber from last season.

This carry-over is due in large measure to the dry summer and consequent reduction in the wheat yield. The lumber business was dull all summer as a result of a drought affecting the farmers' building operations, many farmers having cancelled their plans for new buildings when the crops began to show the full effects of the dry summer.

Besides this there was a much smaller program of elevated building in the country than in 1928, which was a record year. One big lumber firm states that its carry-over is 15,000,000 feet, the largest in the company's history.

Ideal Air Port

City Of Moose Jaw Claims To Have One Of The Ideal Airports Of The World

The Moose Jaw Board of Trade claims for its city the possession of one of the ideal airports of the world. It points out that the soil of the field is black loam with gravel subsoil, therefore free from the conditions which invariably obtain after heavy rains. The field has a natural drainage, is virgin prairie, absolutely even, and is an ideal, all-weather site. No quagmires are possible and large, heavily loaded machines experience no difficulty in taking off at any season.

Playing Safe

Automobilist Took No Chances With Train When His Car Stalled On Crossing

There is a man in Western Ontario who has lived up to his teach'ng. At ways he declared that if ever his car stalled on a railway track with a train approaching he would waste no time on the car, but would make for safety. "I can buy another car, but I can't buy another chance after I'm dead," he said. A couple of weeks ago he bought a new car and took it for a run. Crossing a railway track it gave a cough and quit. A train was approaching from a distance. People told him he had time to get her going; but this brave chap got out and walked to the side of the road. The new car was reduced to matchwood. Some people said he was a fool, but if so, he was a wise one. He had insured his car and was taking no chances. He left the debris to the railway wreckers and put in a claim to the insurance company. He is still alive and sound and his wife is not a widow.—Regina Leader.

3075

The deep toned effect of the neckline is outstandingly smart in red-dahl's tones, so charmingly youthful. The collar and cuffs are of white crepe de chine daintily embroidered in dahlia shade around edge, a new note of Paris. Ties are also very smart made of white plique.

The narrow shoulders have pin inserted tucks. The modest bodice assures dainty sleekness to wear. The skirt starts to flare well below the hips, with graceful fluttering fullness at hem.

Style No. 3075 can be had in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 42 inches bust.

It makes up attractively in sheer woolsens in tweed in new bright coloring covert cloth in plain or self-checked patterns, wool crepe, and cashmere printed wool jersey.

It also adapts itself lovely to the supple silks in flat crepe, crepe de chine and faille silk crepe.

In black crepe satin it suits every demand for the socially busy woman. The collar and cuffs may be made of the dull side of the crepe or of contrasting shade as fade green, chartreuse, lemon-yellow or white.

Printed sheer velvet with canton crepe collar and cuffs is smart. In plain transparent velvet with collar and cuffs of lace or metal cloth is luxuriously smart, either in black, bottle green or Independence blue.

Pattern price 25 cents.

JAPANESE DELEGATES TO NAVAL CONFERENCE

R. Wakatsuki, left, and Admiral Takarabe, right, chief delegates of the Japanese Government to the five-power naval conference to be held in London, England. The Japanese leaders, it is believed, expressed the thought that Japan should have stronger control of affairs in China, and it is believed that the other four powers, to be represented at the party will agree on this subject. Japan, of course, is expected to accept an inferior role in naval armament, chiefly concerning cruisers, submarines and destroyers.

British Nobility Farmers

About Fifteen Thousand Acres Of Alberta Farm Land Held By British Nobility

About 15,000 acres of farm lands in Alberta are now owned by titled members of the British nobility. Of these, the Duke of Sutherland carries the largest holdings. The Duke of Sutherland and the Sutherland Land Company owns 9,202 acres.

East Minto is the second largest holder, with 1,908 acres. He is closely followed by the Prince of Wales, whose famous E.P. ranch consists of 1,655 acres. In addition to this, however, the Prince owns another 1,440 acres, so that his total holdings are 3,095 acres, which brings him, actually, into second place.

Lord Cheylesmore has 1,380 acres to his name in Alberta, and Lord Rodney, 618 acres. The Earl of Brompton still holds 320 acres near Pridia, in Southern Alberta.

Swine Breeders Elected

Canadian Swine Breeders' Association Directors For 1930

Mr. R. W. Wade, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association, announces that the annual meeting, closed December 15th, electing directors of the Maritime, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia, resulted as follows: Maritime: Mr. E. B. Little, York; P.E.I.: Mr. J. A. C. McPhail, No. 5, Brandon, Man.; Alberta: W. L. Gray, Millet, Alberta; British Columbia: J. W. Shannon, No. 2, Cloverdale, B.C. The directors for Ontario and Quebec will be elected at the provincial annual meeting of the Association, taking place in February, and for Saskatchewan at the annual meeting of the Canadian Association, in March.

Return Of Sir John Martin-Harvey

"Rosemary" Is Fragrant Name Of Sweet Play Offered By Strong

Martin-Harvey Company present "Rosemary" at the G and Theatre, Tuesday and Friday, Jan. 10 and 12, and Saturday Matinee, and in it they have something that will touch a responsive chord in every heart. England it has taken public and critics alike by storm. Entirely different from anything in which Sir John has appeared hitherto, the role of Sir John might have been written for him so aptly does he handle the dialogue, dress the part, and convey the impression of reality in his interpretation of the role of middle age in the brave days of the year when Queen Victoria ascended the throne. The motif is the sudden flash of love for a very young girl which suddenly illuminates the heart and soul of a man who has had little interest in women, and the pang that overwhelms him when his conscience bids him give up the pursuit. Honour is triumphant, but love lives.

In reviewing "Garrick" on Saturday night, Jan. 11, Sir John Martin-Harvey is undertaking a piece of work that deserves, in fact, demands, the great powers of dramatic expression which have placed him at the head of his profession. An admirer and upholder of the fine tradition of the English stage, he is well fitted by temperament and background to play the greatest of the English actors. Very few actors have succeeded in passing the jury of the public in "Garrick," but Sir John has done it, and his appearance here in the famous role is an opportunity not aptly to be passed by those who love English stage history and fine acting.

Settled Old Debt

A story from Dundalk, Ireland, said an old man walked into a shop there and informed the astonished proprietor that he had called to pay a five-shilling debt that he had owed for 48 years. There was no record of the transaction, but the proprietor explained that he had bought a pair of children's shoes in 1881 and had left immediately for a job in England.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 12

BAPTISM OF JESUS

Golden Text: "This is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased."—Matthew 3:17.

Lesson: Matthew 3:1 to 4:11.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 32:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

The Baptism of Jesus, 3:13-17.—After the return from Egypt, Jesus lived thirty years in Nazareth. Then, when John was baptizing him, he came from Galilee to the Jordan to be baptized by him. In great surprise John exclaimed, "I have need to be baptized of Thee, and comest Thou to me?" But Jesus answered that it was fitting for them to fulfill all righteousness. John's baptism was of repentance unto the remission of sins; yet then did the sinless Jesus come to the river? His baptism was (1) a public endorsement of John as a messenger of God; (2) the baptism was of John; so Jesus saw the heavens open.—F. B. Meyer. And He saw the spirit of God descending as a dove, and hearing a voice from heaven. His words are told that He was filled with the spirit of God, and consecrated to the service of God. He heard a voice out of the heavens, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." In greater measure than before Jesus realized now His divine Sonship and His Father's pleasure. In the words of Dr. C. A. Ross, the self-consecration of Jesus was the greatest of His acts, for it was a quiet consecration of Himself to the service of God, and a quiet consecration of Himself to the service of God, and a quiet consecration of Himself to the service of God.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

STRAWBERRY LUNCHEON

PATTIES

2 cups granulated sugar.

¼ cup cold water.

½ teaspoon cream of tartar.

Strawberry jam.

Dissolve sugar in water on back of range. Place thermometer in syrup and bring to boiling point, stirring well. When the boiling begins cease all stirring, but wipe down sides of saucepan with moist brush or bit of dampened cheesecloth. Add cream of tartar, cover saucepan for a moment, then boil quickly until mixture will form a soft ball when dropped in water from spoon. Four out on lightly greased plate, cool until syrup can be handled, then fold rapidly back and forth until creamy. Knead to smooth, compact, but soft mass.

The strawberry jam should be added in the proportion of two table spoons to each cup of the mixture. Melt the mixture to a semi-liquid state, then stir in the jam rubbed through a sieve. Stir well while the jam is melting. Drop the patties from the end of a spoon, or make into balls between the palms of the hand and flatten by pressing gently.

CHIAPELITE AND FIG SALAD

3 large grapefruit.

A few preserved figs.

1 lemon for dressing.

Peel fruit, remove membrane from each section, cut meat into pieces with figs. Serve with dressing made of lemon, or lime juice, a dash of paprika, and a suggestion of powdered sugar. (One teaspoon to a half cup of dressing.)

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has done for the farmer what the discovery of the glass pane did for the gardener, giving a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increasing the egg-laying capacity of flocks of chickens, and greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

WINDOLITE stands for 100 per cent. sunlight. It makes light, but strong windows for cattle sheds, dairy stables, poultry houses, brooders and all out buildings. It is economical, unbreakable, flexible and is easy to cut and fit. It is now being successfully used for sunrooms, verandas, school buildings, hospitals, sanitariums, hot beds, plant coverings and greenhouses. It keeps out cold—will not crack or chip—cuts with an ordinary pair of scissors and is easy to fit. WINDOLITE is supplied in rolls any length, but in 36 inches only. A square yard of WINDOLITE weighs about 14 lbs. and a square yard of glass of ordinary thickness weighs about 135 to 140 lbs. The improved WINDOLITE requires no varnish. WINDOLITE is made in England.

Wonderful Device

Human Heart Can Now Take Photographs Of Itself

The human heart has been exhibited as its own photographer at a demonstration of a new X-ray device at the Franklin Institute.

The device was invented by Charles E. Weyl, assistant professor of the Moore school of electrical engineering, University of Pennsylvania. Dr. F. Maurice McPhedran, roentgenologist, of the Harry Phillips Institute, collaborated with him in its perfection.

The instrument reduces the variation in X-ray photographs, which have hampered physicians in making accurate pictures of conditions in the lungs and heart, which are always in motion.

By an elaborate system of electrical connections—periscopes, instruments, mirrors, fans and electric lights, the heart is made to take pictures of itself and the lung cavity at any point in the cycle of movement that the doctor may desire.

A rubber bulb similar to those used by photographers to open and close a camera shutter, is cut diagonally across and left open. This open bulb remanent then is pressed against the carotid artery in the throat in such a way as to make the pulse beat like a finger, squeezing air through the rubber tube which runs to the relay box and electrical amplifier.

At every pulse, electrical contacts are made which reflect light on mirrors which in turn set off a chain of electrical circumstances that resulted in exposure of the X-ray plates on the illuminated heart and lungs at regular intervals.

Seed Extraction Plants

Seed Used In Experimental Planting Operations In National Forests

The Forest Service of the Department of the Interior has established four seed-extraction stations for extracting the seed of forest trees. The largest of these is at New Westminster, British Columbia, and smaller plants are situated at Rocky Mountain House, Alberta, and at Indian Head and Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. The seed is extracted for use in experimental planting operations on the national forests, and in the production of trees for free distribution in the Prairie Provinces.

By special arrangement with the authorities concerned considerable quantities of tree seed extracted at the New Westminster Station of the Dominion Forest Service, are shipped to the British Forestry Commission, and to the New Zealand Forestry Department, to be used in their extensive planting operations.

The level of the oceans would be raised about 50 feet if the Antarctic ice cap should melt, an Australian geologist believes.

WINDOLITE

The Improved Glass Substitute

COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer. Nature's most completely revolutionary germ destroyer, as well as stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important asset.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of Health and Hygiene, the most effective means of the sun's rays are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

The Singing Fool

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's French night club, is loved by Grace Farrell, the cigarette girl, but he doesn't know it. He marries Molly Watson, a ballad singer, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When their baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend. She and Perry take the child Al adores, and sell for France. Al, broken by the loss, becomes a devotee. Months later he drifts into Blackie's place and is saved by Grace Farrell, who makes him promise to stage a comeback. Al falls in love with Grace, and while Grace is happy in his love, she often wonders what has become of Molly and is worried.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Grace realized that on many occasions when Al was silent he was thinking of his beloved son and wondering how Junior was faring. It was just about a year now since Molly had so cruelly taken him from Al and rushed off to Europe with John Perry. No word had reached New York concerning the reproach since that one message announcing that Molly was suing for divorce. That a strange silence in itself was ominous to Grace. She knew that Al's life was "extricably bound up in Junior's and because of that Molly had a hold on him."

Perhaps Al sensed this feeling of instability in Grace. At any rate, he broached the subject near to her heart.

"Grace, you and I are going to be married one of these days?"

It was a question, not an assertion, and Grace looked at him with gently interrogating eyes, saying nothing.

"Will you marry me, Grace?"

"Al, you know how I feel. You know I love you—of course I want to marry you. But—"

"But what?"

"You don't even know if you're divorced or not."

"You feeling that out—the lawyers are working on it now. I would have brought it up before, but I wanted to be well on the way to recovery before I mentioned it to you."

"But what about Junior?"

A faint shadow crossed Al's face then he drove it away. "He had reasoned that out, too."

"I can't have Junior, anyway," he said. "Molly would never give him up. And I do want you, Grace. I want you so much. I love you dearly. I never stop loving you for a single moment. I think you're the most adorable and fascinating and beautiful person on earth."

Grace stopped crying and looked up into his eyes. "And I feel the same about you, Al," she said simply and sincerely.

Meanwhile, what was happening to Molly in Paris?

During the first few months in the French capital and in the brilliant resorts along the Riviera she had been delightfully happy with John Perry. And she loved having Junior with her, too.

But Perry did not like Junior; the child was not his own and he often felt that the little boy came between him and Molly. Molly did not notice this at first, the only found increasing joy in the presence of the dark, handsome Perry. Never for a moment did she regret leaving Al and giving up the fame he had brought her on Broadway.

But when the honeymoon period completely to her adoration of Perry waiting impatiently for her divorce to be granted. This complete submergence of her character to the whims and demands of Perry astonished even Molly herself. Never had she believed it possible for her to forget herself so completely in thoughts of another person.

The couple travelled from one resort to another, spending money lavishly, but always circumpectly because the divorce had not yet been granted. When they gambled at Deauville or Monte Carlo it was Molly's money that was used, for it turned out that John Perry did not have so much after all. He had earned the reputation of having a fortune simply because of his lavish spending on Broadway.

But during this period the relationship between Molly and John changed perceptibly. It was John who began to show signs of boredom and Molly who began to show signs of restlessness. One day when she was moody he did not forgive her as Al had always done. He simply went away and stayed a few days. When he returned in response to her begging letters she loved him more madly than ever.

Then came the day when Perry said, "Molly, I wish you wouldn't have that child around so much. He interferes with our plans and he bothers me terribly."

Molly's voice trembled as she answered, "But I love him, John! What can I do with him?"

"Send him away," insisted Perry harshly. "Send him to a nursing home, or board him out with some family."

Molly gazed long into the handsome, irate features of the man she loved. She realized she must do as he said if she would hold him. So little Junior was boarded out with a French family. It happened to be a family where he wasn't given good care, so his usually rosy cheeks became thin and pale. He was terribly lonely, too, and he often cried for his mother, his mother who only came to see him once a week now. Vaguely he remembered his daddy back in America, the daddy who had loved him so.

One day Molly realized that her money was dwindling with dangerous rapidity. John Perry asked almost daily for loans, which he wasted in gambling, and he never suggested paying back. Molly was afraid to call him to account, afraid even to stop giving him money. With a deadly pain in her heart she sensed that she was on the verge of losing him. If she said a word he might up and leave her at a moment's notice, but if she kept silent he would probably marry her. And the divorce was due any day now.

Shaved John Perry played pitilessly on Molly's infatuation for him, as pitilessly as she had once used Al's love to further her ambitions. His temper pined day and his demands for large sums of money more insistent.

Then came the day when Molly received news of the divorce. She was wild with happiness as she flung her arms about John Perry's neck.

"Now, John, we can be married! Isn't it wonderful?"

Perry put his hands lightly on her shoulders and looked down into her eyes with a quizzical expression. A show-down was at hand.

"Wonderful!" he said deliberately. "Well—maybe. And maybe not."

"What do you mean, John? Don't you want to marry me?"

"No, I don't think I do," he answered calmly.

Molly drew back. First her expression was beseeching, then came anger.

"After all I've done for you—to love you, to wait for you—"

Perry merely shrugged his shoulders in answer.

Then fury broke loose in Molly. "You cheating dog!" She backed away from him, picked up a vase from a table, and sent it straight toward his head. Perry dodged deftly, smiling as the base smashed in fragments against the wall. With a nonchalant air he picked up his hat and stick.

"Where are you going?" cried Molly.

"I'm leaving. You'll never see me again."

Molly cried all that night. Next morning she received a telegram telling her Junior was dangerously ill.

Back in New York Al had returned to fame and Broadway in a Marcus reverie. All over the city you could see the flaming billboards announcing his presence. "Al Stone—Broadway's Famous 'Singing Fool'—as the headliner in the Marcus Re-union for 1929. When you walked down Broadway at night you saw his name in yellow lights against the ink sky. His come-back was a complete success.

One night, as the stage doorkeeper at the Algonquin Theatre, where Al was appearing, sat smoking the stub of a cigar, a tidy and expensive little sport car drove into the alley by the stage entrance. Al was at the wheel and beside him sat Grace Farrell. The doorkeeper heard their happy chatter as Al parked the car. The young singer was feeling in particularly good form this evening, for the news had just reached him from Paris of Molly's divorce. That meant that he and Grace would soon be married.

CHAPTER XXIX

They were both radiant as they approached the doorkeeper.

"How are you, Shakespeare?" called Al, clapping the old man on the back. Then, quick as a wink, he snatched the chewed stub from the doorkeeper's mouth and replaced it with a four bit perfect. The old timer smiled delightedly and saluted as Al and Grace went on into the theatre.

A group of chorus girls, hoofers and singers, who went on early, were already standing near the stage door, sliping and laughing. They turned to greet Al and Grace.

"Pretty soft for the little old black-face comedian, strolling in here at show time, and doesn't have to go on until nine," said a vivacious sourette, smiling gaily.

"Soft is right," agreed Al. "You don't think I'd be in this revue if it were any hard work to do?"

The sourette laughed. She and the others knew that Al was really the hardest worker in the show. He linked his arm familiarly in that of the little singer, pretending to place appreciatively toward Grace.

"Let's step out together—you and me!" he remarked, sotto voce, to the sourette. "Supper—wine—music—eh? What do you say?"

Again he looked toward Grace, but she only stuck out her tongue at him ever so slightly and refused to become jealous.

Meanwhile, the sourette had drawn away in mock hauteur. "Blr, I don't know you. Besides I've an engagement after the show with the four great big old-money men from the southwest."

"That's three too many," said Al lightly and, slipping his arm around Grace, he stroled on toward his dressing room.

He was in good humor tonight, not only because he realized that he and Grace were soon to be married, but because he had at last persuaded Grace to leave Blackie Joe's. She had hung onto that job of hers at Blackie's like grim death, refusing to give it up until recently.

"I'd feel lost without it, Al," she had said when he first broached the subject of her leaving. "Besides, I feel loyal to Blackie. He's looked after me and protected me."

"Yes," said Al. "But you've been there four years. That's long enough. Blackie will hate to lose you, but he'll be good about it. I want you to have some rest."

"So Al, I'll be here," said today Grace had said good-bye to Blackie's and given up her tiny room in the Waverley Place lodging house to move uptown to more palatial quarters.

As they headed through the backstage corridors a page hurried up to Al.

"A lady wants you on the phone, Mr. Stone."

"A lady," repeated Al. "What is this strange power I have over women? Was it a blonde or a brunette voice?"

The stage boy grunted while Al went off to answer the phone. Grace strolled slowly after him, wondering who was calling. She saw him pick up the receiver and hear him say casually,

"Yes, this is Mr. Stone speaking. Who's this?"

Then Grace saw a pained, almost bitter expression pass across his features. His face went pale and he clipped his hand over the transmitter and said, "Who?"

"It's Molly."

A stab of pain shot through Grace. Had her fear that Molly would turn up to make trouble come true? Al drew back from the phone as if he would hang up; then he reconsidered.

"What is it?" he asked coldly. Grace saw him nod, then he hung up the receiver and turned to her.

"Molly says to come to the Good Samaritan Hospital as fast as I can."

"Why?"

"She didn't say. Simply that, and hung up. I wonder if it's a trick of some kind."

Grace's eyes narrowed; her heart was throbbing hard and fast. But she forced herself to say,

"I suppose so. Yet every time Molly has come into my life it has meant misery."

Yes, Grace paused. "Do you think there's anything the matter with your boy?"

The suggestion electrified Al into action. "I'll go! And you wait here, Grace. I'll be right back." He ran toward the stage door. When Grace reached it he was already in his car and the motor was whirling. She saw him shoot down the alley and out toward the lights of Broadway.

It took the theatre four streets to get to the theatre. The streets were loaded with traffic. It seemed to Al that he would never be able to force his way through the jam. But finally he did work out of the theatrical district and went speeding along a quieter street, then out the Avenue.

How did Molly happen to be in America so quickly after her divorce? Why had she called him, was Junior ill? These questions rose and a swarm of other queries raced across Al's mind. He sat at the wheel, with grim face and fixed, tortured eyes. Sheer force of habit took him through the traffic unheeded.

He recalled Junior as he had seen him last on that memorable afternoon in the park, roly-poly and the picture of health. It seemed to himself impossible that anything tragic could have happened to his beloved child. Surely Grace was wrong.

But Grace was right. In a tiny bed at the Good Samaritan lay Junior, his eyes closed, his face wasted and as white as the sheets, except for a tiny crimson spot on each cheek. He roused himself, finally, and whispered to Molly, who hovered over him:

"Is Daddy coming? I want my Daddy!"

Molly had been standing by Junior's bedside, rigid with fear. As he spoke she leaned over quickly and touched his tiny fingers.

"Yes, darling, Daddy will be here soon. He's on his way. Just a few moments and you'll see him."

Junior turned away from her with a sigh and his eyes closed, as if the strain of his tiny fingers had taken his fast-ebbing strength. He did not see the expression of agony on his mother's face and her tears that fell unchecked on the coverlet.

Now the doctor came forward and tapped Molly on the arm. She followed him from the little white room into the hallway, clasping her hands before her as she gazed beseechingly at the door—Just try Mearns's.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear out." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to an Aspirin tablet for relief.

Aspirin is always available, and it never fails to help. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

LARGEST ASSETS IN HISTORY OF CANADIAN BANKING

Banking history is made by The Royal Bank of Canada in its annual report for the fiscal year to November 30th, now going forward to shareholders. For the first time ever reported by any Canadian bank, total assets are in excess of one billion dollars, while earnings in making a new high record of $7,145,197 are the largest ever reported to shareholders.

Other outstanding features of the report include a gain in total assets during the year of $92,046,856, an increase in savings deposits of over $67,000,000 and a gain in commercial loans in Canada of more than $71,000,000, well in excess of the total gain in deposits. During the year a further stock issue accounted for an increase of $5,000,000 in both Capital and Reserves, each of which now stands at $35,000,000.

The statement, with so many strong features, makes its appearance at a most auspicious time, as it will bear striking testimony to the unusual strength of the banking situation in Canada.

Total assets now stand at $1,001,442,741, as compared with $909,395,884, a gain for the year of $92,046,856. Of this total liquid assets are $409,275,965, equal to 46.91 per cent. of liabilities to the public. Cash on hand and in banks amount to $157,632,114. This is equivalent to 18.07 per cent. of the bank's liabilities to the public. The principal items among liquid assets are: Dominion and Provincial Government securities of $96,543,143; Canadian municipal and British, colonial and foreign public securities $17,400,156; railway and other bonds, debentures and stocks $15,468,621. Call unchanged as compared with a year ago, while those abroad show an increase of over $22,000,000. It is understood that this increase is accounted for by certain special deposits of a more or less temporary nature.

From the business viewpoint, the extent to which the bank has taken care of the increased commercial requirements of its customers is a matter of special interest. Commercial loans in Canada now total $36,405,352, as compared with $29,315,472, an increase for the year of more than $7,100,000.

Deposits bearing interest have continued to show substantial gains and now stand at $691,380,470, an increase of $67,728,562 during the year, while non-interest bearing deposits amount to $180,707,298, as compared with $183,814,957 a year ago.

Shareholders will be particularly interested in the showing made in the profit and loss account, earnings for the year having amounted to $7,145,197, as compared with $5,881,253 in the previous year, a gain of $1,263,884. Increased profits are due to the larger amount of business handled during the year, as well as the greater supply of funds made available through the recent increase in capital. Profits for the year, when added to the amount carried forward from the previous year made the total available for distribution $9,506,223. This was applied as follows: dividends and bonus $4,722,071; transferred to officers' pension fund $20,000; appropriation for bank premises $400,000, and reserve for Dominion taxes $610,000, leaving a balance to be carried forward of $3,674,151, as against $2,361,085 at the end of the previous year, an increase of $1,313,066.

ALL IMMIGRANTS NOW SEARCHED

WASHINGTON, D.C.—It has been found that the number of tourists travelling as third class passengers when entering the United States has increased considerably within recent years.

The practice of allowing third class passengers to enter the country when immigration laws were complied with and without examination of their personal effects has grown up in recent years. After long experience it was found that dutiable articles were seldom found among their belongings.

Now strict orders have been issued from the commissioner of customs requiring the examination of all baggage of all passengers entering the United States, thus ending the immunity which tourists travelling third class heretofore enjoyed.

CARS AT SALON CHANGE COLORS LIKE CHAMELEONS

Colors that change under varying kinds and intensity of lighting were an interesting development disclosed at the silver anniversary automobile salon, held last week in New York.

Quickly dubbed "the chameleons," these cars are finished in iridescent colors which are quite different in shade and tone and in some cases in actual color under daylight than they are when seen in electric lighting. The intensity of the illumination, whether natural or artificial, suffices to vary colors on these chameleon cars.

REQUIRE LICENSE TAGS ON SALVADOR OX CARTS

The natives in the Central American republic of San Salvador have not yet adopted such modern transportation developments as stop lights, motor cops, traffic tickets, gas tax and "no parking" signs. But they are making progress—they require license tags for every one of the 22,000 ox carts in the republic. These tags are much smaller than Canadian automobile license plates, but this disadvantage is offset to a great extent by the fact that it is possible for a pedestrian to follow a hit and run driver at an easy strolling pace and still "get his number." A brisk walker could even go home first and get a pencil.

Due to the uncertain nature of the Salvador roads, which change their routes and grades at a moment's notice during the frequent earthquakes, there is little automobile travel and only one car for every 607 persons.

THE KEY TO PROSPERITY

"No one," said Charles M. Schwab, "has any patent rights to continuing business success," as he presented the following rules, which, in his opinion, "hold the key to lasting prosperity."

1. Pay Labor the highest possible wage.
2. Treat Labor as a business partner.
3. Conduct business in the full light of day.
4. Remember that the law of supply and demand is inexorable.
5. Live and help live.
6. Welcome new ideas.
7. Never be satisfied that what has been achieved is sufficient.
8. Operate business on the most economical basis.
9. Look ahead and think ahead.
10. Smile, be cheerful and work upon the basis that the fundamental purpose of business is to promote the happiness of human beings.—Ex.

Twenty years ago, The Lethbridge Herald announced: "Blairmore is taking on the airs of a city this evening, January 3rd, the occasion being the turning on for the first time in the village of electric street lights, and residents are thoroughly enjoying the novelty of the sensation. The light is furnished by the Rocky Mountains Cement Company, which has just completed installing a system for the town."

BUILT BY STUDEBAKER ~ BUILDER OF CHAMPIONS

DYNAMIC NEW ERSKINE

A new Erskine Six of completely new design, greatly increased power and priced below $1300 is announced by The Studebaker Corporation for presentation at the New York and Montreal Motor Shows in January. The new car is known as the Dynamic New Erskine "because of its dynamic appearance, power and performance symbolizing the forceful trend in present day living." According to Studebaker, the new Erskine has more power per pound of weight than any other car under $1300. The new Erskine engine is of Studebaker design and manufacture.

The Dynamic New Erskine is offered in seven body types. All reflect the general characteristics of the Studebaker Dictator Six introduced in the middle of 1929, and are marked by smart new colors authoritative of the latest vogue.

Mounted on a wheelbase of 114 inches, the new bodies are exceptionally roomy and are finished inside and out with a fine regard to detail. Extremely low and graceful lines have been achieved through the adoption of double drop frame construction, which also tend to give the car an even lower centre of gravity for increased safety and roadability. Clear visor bodies of welded steel over a selected hardware foundation are of Studebaker's own design and manufacture.

The complete model range includes a 5-passenger club sedan, 5-passenger 4-door regal sedan, 5-passenger 4-door sedan, 5-passenger regal landau, 2-passenger business coupe, 4-passenger regal coupe with rumble seat and a 5-passenger touring. Upholstery is of fine quality throughout. Extra wheels or tire rims in front grid are standard equipment on the regal sedan, landau and 4-passenger regal coupe.

The new Erskines are notable for their brilliant performance, fine roadability and thrifty operating cost. Tests at Studebaker's Proving Ground and on the highways have shown the new car to be a worthy product of the great Studebaker President, The Commander and The Dictator.

The new Erskine's power plant is of Studebaker design and manufacture throughout. It is a six cylinder head type motor, cast en bloc, with fully machined dome shaped combustion chambers developing 70 brake horsepower at 3200 r.p.m. Engine head is removable. Bore and stroke are 3-1/4 4-1/8 inches, with a piston displacement of 205 cubic inches. N. A. C. C. rating is 25.4 horsepower.

Pistons are cast iron with three compression rings above the piston pin and one oil control ring. Connecting rods are 10-1/4 inches long, dropped, forged from selected steel. Shimless bearings are babitted direct to steel. Both pistons and connecting rods are matched in sets for perfect balance.

The Only Explanation

An irate customer entered the butcher shop, threw a piece of meat on the counter and indignantly exclaimed:

"What do you call that, sir?"

The man examined it and replied "It looks like a piece of brass to me."

"Piece of brass—of course it is! And do you know where I found it in one of your sausages?"

The butcher put up his hand, rubbed his double chin, and said he thought he could explain it.

"Yes, and explain it you will before I leave this shop!"

"Well," drawled the butcher, as he smacked his lips, "I must have got to take the collar off."

The curious may find a wealth of information about the automotive industry in the little volume "Feet and Figures" published by the National Automotive Chamber of Commerce. The 1929 edition contains the remarkable statement that the proportion of cars sold on the deferred payment plan is smaller today than it was in 1925. During that year 65 per cent of cars, new and used, were sold on time, while in 1928 the proportion was only 59.5 per cent. Sixty four per cent of 1929's automobile have seventy or more horsepower says the handbook, while only twelve per cent have less than fifty horsepower. Announcements of 1930 cars indicate that the average power will be considerably greater than in 1929.

The two game return series between Blairmore and Trail at the local arena Monday and Tuesday nights gave fans an opportunity of seeing once very good hockey. In spite of Blairmore's lack of weight, the local boys managed to hold Monday's game down to a 1-0 score, and thrills galore were offered throughout the game. Tuesday night's game was rather meek-sided in score, but the locals gave visitors a real battle. The score was 7-3 in the visitors' favor. Both games were ably handled by "Doc" Harbour, official referee. Following the game on Tuesday night, the boys of both teams were banqueted at the Cosmopolitan hotel.

Prior to his leaving for his home at Washington, D.C., after a pleasant visit with his parents here, the members of the local British Empire Service League a few days ago waited upon Mr. W. J. Howe and presented him with a beautifully illuminated lay pipe and an enlarged picture of members of the legion, many of whom fought side by side with Mr. Howe in the early stages of the Great War. Mr. Howe was one of the first to enlist from the Pass when the call to arms came, and experienced many of the most desperate sieges of the conflict.

The officers of Turtle Mountain Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Hillcrest, were installed on Tuesday night by Bro. A. G. McArthur, special deputy from Calgary. There was a large attendance of members. Following the meeting refreshments were served and a programme of speeches, songs, recitations, etc., was rendered.

A peak in the Rockies, 10,000 feet in height, has been named "Mount Isabel" to commemorate the second visit to Canada which Miss Isabel MacDonald made with her father, the British premier. The peak is located twelve miles west of Banff, standing out boldly from those visible from the Lake Louise district.

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blairmore Enterprise, 1914)
April 24—The action of J. R. Irwin against the town of Blairmore, claiming wrongful dismissal and damages to the extent of $5000, was heard before Mr. Justice Walsh at Macleod today, judgment being reserved.

The regular annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Branch of the Canadian mining institute was held at Fernie yesterday, presided over by President W. R. Wilson, of Fernie.
Among those present were: John T.
Sterling, Lewis Stockett, Francis
Aspinall, W. F. McNeill, Robert Hamilton,
Samuel Jones, J. A. Richard, Robert
Livingstone, A. N. Scott, N. C. Pitcher,
J. E. Reid, J. S. Quigley, W. Hutchison,
John Brown, W. G. Flint, William Shaw, Charles Graham,
R. H. Morris, G. A. Lavoie, O. E. S.
Whiteside, Duncan McDonald, J. L. Cote,
Adam Reid, C. A. Seaton, J. R. Macdonald.
Following the session, Mr. W. R. Wilson entertained the visitors to a theatre party.

John McPhail has been appointed to the position of master mechanic at the local mine.

Irma, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble McDonald, is suffering from internal poisoning at her home in Bellevue.

A local "hello" girl recently attended a Sunday night service and fell asleep during the sermon. At the close of his discourse the preacher announced: "We will now sing hymn waking in time to hear the number, yawned and said: "The line is busy,

please call again."

The marriage of Miss Janet Dunlop to Mr. Francis William John

by Rev. W. T. Young at Frank on the 18th of April.

The payroll of Alberta coal mines
for the year 1918 amounted to $8,612, 400. The average per day for the Pass mines was $12.329.

May 1—The case of J. R. Irwin against the Town of Blairmore was dismissed by Mr. Justice Walsh, the complainant to pay the costs.

At Monday night's meeting of the town council, an offer was received from A. McLeod and Bill Beard of a site for a nuisance ground, at a price of $50 per acre.

At a meeting of the Blairmore
school board last night, an exhaustive report was read from Inspector C.
Sansom, in which he dilated upon the necessity of flying the flag of Canadian freedom over our educational institutions, and suggested that the board provide the school with a flag to be hoisted on every school day.

The 95th anniversary of the founding of Oddfellowship was observed by the local lodge on Sunday last, when they attended service at Central Baptist church. Rev. W. T. Young was the preacher, his subject being: "The Relationship of Christianity to Brotherhood."
The proceeds of the collection were forwarded to the fund being raised for the establishment of a monument at The Hague in honor of the termination of a hundred years of peace.

The McLaren Lumber Company will spend about $200,000 in enlargements

Blairmore mill. The company was recently reorganized with a capitalization of $1,500,000.

The citizens of Red Deer last week forwarded the sum of $250 to the Newfoundland Sealing Disaster Fund.

The marriage took place at Calgary on Thursday last of Mr. Leopold Seymour to Miss Mary Elizabeth ("Polly") Frayer, both of Blairmore.
The ceremony was performed by Rev.
Fisher Hetherington at St. Mary's cathedral. The young couple have taken up residence in Calgary.

The thermometer took the lowest drop for the season this morning, reaching from 25 to 40.

PROFANE LANGUAGE

The use of profane language is hard to understand, yet it has become very general, particularly throughout the smaller towns in western Canada.
At the last council meeting the matter came up and the council have made a move to have same stopped in the restaurants. We believe they might have gone farther and instructed the police to see to it that profane language was not used on the streets or in any public building.

However a start has been made and no doubt public sentiment will assist in the spread of the good work.

ELECTRIC CAR LINE TO PASS

(Lethbridge Herald, 20 Years Ago)
Negotiations were opened here during the week which give excellent promise of an early realization of the long entertained hope of the people of the Pass for an inter-urban electric railway to connect all the towns of the district. The consummation of this project which has been tentatively projected too long would be such a boon to this district to feel that the Christmas stocking of the Pass had been filled to overflowing and every inducement and encouragement will be extended to insure early construction.
While it is not permitted to become definitely known who the real promoters are, it is current opinion that McKenzie and Mann, of the C. N.
R., are behind the new move and if that proves to be the case, materialization of the project will be strongly probable.

ALBERTA ISSUES AUTO LICENSES BY THOUSAND

EDMONTON, Jan. 4.—Large issues of new automobile licenses have been made this year so far from the provincial offices. Between 8000 and 10,000 have been issued from the local office, while correspondingly high issues have been made from Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.
Motorists have been told that 1929 automobile licenses expired at midnight on December 31 and that 1930 plates should now be used. There is no authority on provincial statutes or any other place to grant auto users any respite from obtaining their 1930 plates right away, says Edmund Trowbridge, deputy provincial secretary. Checking up on licenses is in the hands of the police.

Blairmore scored another win tune of five to one. Lethbridge was also adjudged winner at Bellevue in a four-to-two score.

One would judge when seeing the

The question is being debated at Fernie as to the eligibility of J. L. contended, and probably justly so,

that Mr. Gates as proprietor of a beer chairman of the police commission, which office, by virtue of his being mayor, he holds.

Quebec Winter Sports

Vivite Carnaval! Vivent les sports d'hiver! In these few words may be summed up the spirit of Quebec in winter-time. Here for many years have gathered lovers of winter sports and frolics from all parts of the western hemisphere.

The ancient capital of Canada is the American continent's metropolis for ski-ing, ski-joring, ski-jumping, tobogganing, bob-sledding, skating, snowshoeing, dog-team driving, curling, and hockey.
during the winter months, and in addition has a unique attraction to offer the visitor in February when the International Dog Sled Derby annually takes place.

Winter sports activities radiate from the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec's famous hotelery, where Jack Strathdee will again be winter-sports director.
This season he has a new attraction to offer during the Ice Pageant, February 12 and 13, when 24 girl members of the Toronto Skating Club will perform an ice-dance to be known as the "Danse Moderne".
This will be a veritable "Ziegfeld production on ice."

In all about two hundred skaters will take part in this ever attractive and beautiful Pageant.

A record list of entries is promised for the Dog Sled Derby this season. Arthur Beaudry, driver of the Chateau team, announces that he will have a better team than ever. His new huskies were bred at Cahoonville, the Indian reservation near Montreal. At the Dog Derby, February 20, 21, and 22, the visitor will see such famous mushers as St.
Goddard, winner of last year's Derby; Sogala,
Norwegian hero of many an epic drive; Frank Dupuis, and many another well-known figure in action for three days over a 123 mile course, mushing 41 miles a day.

Three internationally famous ski-ing instructors will be on the staff of the Chateau Frontenac this winter. They are Ivid Nelson, Hans Gunnarsson, and Orville Higgs, of Revelstoke, British Columbia.
Burnett Burke (formerly of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association), will be instructor at the Chateau's skating rink.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. C. J. Bundy has returned from a trip to Calgary.

Miss Edith Kay spent a few days visiting in Bellevue recently.

Mrs. Heck Lemire and children have returned from their holiday visit at Macleod.

Miss Phillis Smith, of Lundbreck, spent the week end the guest of Mr.
and Mrs. Harry Gunn and family.

The Misses Harris, of Blairmore, who spent several days visiting at the home of Mrs. C. Latta, have returned.

Miss Margaret Hallworth, of the Bellevue teaching staff, spent the week end the guest of Miss Martha Tustian.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Swart and Netta and Gordon have returned from Lethbridge, where they spent the season's holidays.

Owing to the extreme cold weather conditions, the dance held on the 4th was not very well attended. Better luck next time.

Miss Muriel Marlow spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Drake, of Frank, returning in time for the reopening of school.

The past week has been very wintry indeed, with snowing and drifting most of the time and the thermometer ranging from 20 to 25 below zero.

A very successful young people's party was staged at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. Cowin on Friday night last.
Dancing was the chief amusement of the evening.

The annual convocation of the Alberta School Trustees' Association will be held in Calgary on February the 4th and 5th.

"Tim" Murphy has moved his tonsoratorial parlor from the Cosmopolitan hotel to the premises recently vacated by Hyslops.

Miss Janet Cameron, who is teaching at Rochester, Alberta, spent a few days during Christmas with her mother at Burnis.

SAYS OUTLOOK IN THE WEST IS ENCOURAGING

Toronto. — "Western Canada has suffered a severe setback through the light crops harvested in the past season—the lowest crop in yield, although the highest in quality since 1924," commented E. J. McPhail, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, in a statement published in the annual financial review of The Globe. "We may as well admit the fact and make the best of the situation on the part of the farmers and businessmen of the west as they are doing," says Mr. McPhail.

Nevertheless, the wheat pool head states, the outlook and feeling throughout the country is much more encouraging than that existing in 1923 and 1924. Mr. McPhail outlines in his statement the change that has been effected in the western farmer's outlook by increased mechanization of his work and by co-operative handling. He claims that the decreased movement of crop to market has not been the cause of the slowing down of business. He says that the grain movement "has not been far from normal."

"A total wheat crop for western Canada of 272,000,000 bushels, of which at least 50,000,000 bushels will be required for feed and seed—with even poorer returns for coarse grains—means a substantial drop in the annual income, even after making all reasonable allowances for lower production costs. If the reduced yields were evenly distributed over all the farms of the west, or if the world wheat markets were not still influenced by the surplus—now rapidly decreasing—of the record world crop of 1929, the loss of wheat crop harvested, western Canada would not have been so seriously affected."

"As it is however, there are a considerable number of farmers in many parts of western Canada who are enjoying a reasonable amount of prosperity, from crops only slightly below, or, in a few cases, above, the average yield. At the same time, there are farmers in the same district, who, from no fault of their own, had poor crop or no crop at all. Low harvesting costs don't mean very much to those who have no crop to harvest."

"I have deliberately emphasized the unfavorable effect the situation," Mr. McPhail admits, "because there has been a tendency in some quarters to lay blame for the slowing down of business on the rate at which the crop of 1929 is moving in the market instead of recognizing how much grain we have to market."

Airplane Tragedy

Two Camera Planes Collide in Mid-Air, With Loss Of Ten Lives

Santa Monica, Cal. — Ten persons including Kenneth Twiss, not a director, and Max Gold, assistant director and former national handball champion, were killed when two motion picture camera planes collided head-on in mid-air and plunged into the ocean near here, Saturday.

The cabin ships, loaded with cameras and motion picture equipment, in addition to five persons each, crashed together at 3,000 feet altitude, three miles off the coast. They wedged together in a tangled mass, burst into flames and plunged to the surface, sinking immediately. Three of the passengers were thrown clear as the interlocked planes struck the water. The other seven were carried beneath the surface.

Three bodies later broke free from the wreckage on the sea bottom and rose, to be picked up by patrol boats. The doors had been removed from the "plane cabins to give camera men free play and searchers believed all bodies eventually would appear on the surface."

Holding Meetings In West

Hon. R. B. Bennett Starts Speaking Tour At Vancouver

Ottawa. — Dates have been arranged for meetings to be addressed in Saskatchewan by Hon. R. B. Bennett in his western speaking tour this month. The Conservative leader will speak at Saskatoon on January 20 and at Regina on January 21.

Arrangements are now under way for meetings in Manitoba. Three addresses will be delivered by Mr. Bennett in that province one of which will be in Winnipeg.

The tour opens at Vancouver on January 14. On the following night Mr. Bennett will speak at Victoria and at Nanaimo on January 17.

A New Year's Tragedy

Seventy Children Perish in Moving Picture Theatre Fire in Scotland

Fairley, Scotland.—With 70 of its children dead, 11 fighting for their lives, and 25 others in hospital, this fire factory town faced the New Year with a broken heart.

Not even a message of sympathy from the King and Queen could help much. There was a promise of three investigations into the recent tragedy, in which so many children came to grief during a fire panic at the Glen Cinema, but this could not put joy in bereft homes.

A movement was started here and in London for a relief fund.

Relentless rain beat down all day upon Paisley. It began last night while yet frantic parents sought to enter the mortuary and identify their dead. It beat down on Paisley Square, where at midnight, true to Scott traditions, a little group of men and women gathered to sing "Auld Lang Syne" as the clock struck 12. The voices broke and ended with nothing left in the air.

It was the tragedy of "door that jammed." The actual cause of the panic is now said to have been the inability of the assistant operator to open a side door when running away with the burning film. Before the door could be opened flames spread through the building and terrified the children scrambling for the exit.

Firemen and helpers found children on the stage, in the orchestra pit, everywhere, some in their terror trying to climb the moving picture screen. "The scene on the stairway," says Deputy Firemaster Wilson, "made even firemen shudder. For ten children were packed tightly together in every imaginable position, like a wall of cement bags."

It is considered doubtful if some of the rescued children will ever fully recover from their experience. One little boy was found in a corner with bodies piled above his waist. When firemen reached him he was looking upwonder, gesticulating, as if trying to push some horror back with his hands. He still thought he was fighting for his life.

India Nationalist Congress

Serious Split Occurs in Ranks Of Followers Gathering At Lahore

Lahore, India. — A serious split arose in the ranks of the all-India National Congress as the gathering concluded amidst cries of "bandhmatra" (halt the march) and "bandhmatra" (halt the march).

Under the leadership of Srinivasa Aiyengar and Subash Bose, 30 members of the Congress walked out, in a protest meeting, formed a "Democratic" party within the congress.

The minority had demanded representation on the new working committee and when the congress adopted the list as a whole, the disgruntled members walked out, "delegating" the matter to the committee.

The dissenting group announced that the work of the congress could be carried on by them in principle.

The congress, however, elected the list as proposed by Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader, omitting the names of Srinivasa Aiyengar and Subash Bose. In the congress, had urged the new working committee should include only those who were entirely sympathetic toward the congressional platform.

In his final address to the congress, President Jawaharlal Nehru precipitated the "halt the march" cry from 15,000 throats when he declared that India's cry for independence has already resounded throughout the world, and that Indians beyond the borders of their country are now enabled to hold their heads high.

Soviets Abolish New Years

Moscow.—Business as usual was the order for this New Year's Day, which has been consigned to the limbo of "abolished" days together with other holidays and Sundays in the Soviet Union. The New Year's tradition though is too deeply rooted to be wiped out by a legal edict. In thousands of Russian homes the advent of 1930 was hailed amidst merry-making greatly stimulated by the effects of vodka.

Carload Of Farm Tractors

North Portal, Sask.—A solid train of 25 cars of farm tractors in the C.P.R. yards here attracted considerable attention. The big shipment totaling 140, four to a flat car, was shipped from Charles City, Iowa, by the Iowa Oliver Farm Equipment Co., and destined to farm implement agencies in Calgary, Lethbridge and 30 Alberta towns. A second train load will follow the middle of January.

Changes At Ottawa

Crear Sworn In Minister Of Railways, and Forke Enters Senate

Ottawa. — Important announcements made by Premier Mackenzie King, are as follows: Hon. T. A. Crear has been sworn in as Minister of Railways and Canals; Hon. Robert Forke has been appointed to the senate; he resigned as Minister of Immigration, and as member for Brandon in the House of Commons.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, has been appointed acting minister of immigration. He will also be acting minister of agriculture during the illness of Hon. W. R. Motherwell.

There will be a further readjustment of portfolios so as to maintain the position of Quebec in this regard. This will be made without undue delay.

Arrangements are under way for changes in the civil service so as to bring scattered services of the same character together. No definite announcement can be made as to just what is intended at present.

TRANS-CANADA AIR MAIL SERVICE MAY SOON COME

Ottawa.—Canada is rolling her map northward. The cry to go West is giving way to the call of the north. And, in pushing back the frontier, with untold millions in riches of the Canadian northland as the magnet—the Dominion's air mail service is playing a leading role. More than 1,000,000 miles have been traversed in the closing year of 1929 by Canada's air mail planes. Nearly another million miles in air mail service will be added for 1930 at the opening on February 1, of the Winnipeg-Regina-Calgary air mail route with offshoots to Saskatoon, North Battleford and Edmonton.

To 300 miles within the Arctic circle, Canadian mail planes travel. Oil, gold, silver, copper, nickel and fur-trapping centres in Ontario, Quebec and Western Canada today are being served by these aerial mail carriers, making more habitable the bleak wood districts with little or no road.

In Ontario's northland, the Red Lake and Narrow Lake mining centres have their regular deliveries by mail by air.

Today, twelve air mail routes are in operation: Montreal-Detroit; Montreal-Albany; Toronto-Buffalo; Montreal-Ottawa; Montreal-Rimouski; Quebec-Seven Islands; Quebec-Anticosti; Moncton-Magalloway Island; Leamington-Pele Islands; Narrow Lake-Sioux Lookout; Lac Du Bonnet-Bissette; Fort McMurray-Alkivi; Montreal-Saint John, and Oaklodge-Calgary.

Two great connecting links which would complete a trans-Canada air mail service are mooted for the near future, one from Montreal to Winnipeg; the other from Calgary, Lethbridge or Edmonton to Vancouver. Early in the new year Canadian air officials contemplate making a survey to determine the best route from Alberta to the Pacific Coast. This fact lent impetus to the probability that parliament may be asked at the next session to make the necessary appropriations for these new routes. An air mail service of one business day and two nights from Montreal to Vancouver is the goal.

POSTPONED HONEYMOON

Graham Longley, mechanic of the leading MacAlpine rescue plane, is one man who kept his bride-to-be waiting and got away with it. The wedding had to be postponed twice while the groom searched the French North for the lost adventurers. He is shown with his bride, the former Irene Kennington, of Winnipeg, about to board the special train from Montreal en route to England by the Canadian Pacific Line, "Duchess of Richmond."

YOUNGEST SON OF KING AND QUEEN

Prince George, youngest son of the King and Queen, who received on December 30, congratulations from his many friends upon his 27th birthday, which marks an encouraging improvement in his health. He recently had been suffering from an indisposition.

Will Discuss Many Subjects

Private Members Of Federal Parliament To Take Active Part In Next Session

Ottawa.—Parliament at its coming session faces an unprecedented variety of subjects for discussion. The speech from the throne, the tariff, the budget and estimates—all milestones in the progress of each session of Canadian parliaments—will naturally be debated. But in the millions of words which are uttered between the time parliament convenes and progress, private members purpose at the approaching session to play a considerable and diversified part in discussions.

Nationalization of the supply of radium; increased subsidies to the maritime provinces; establishment of chairs of international peace and international scholarship in Canadian universities; continuation of Dominion assistance to technical education and to highways; Dominion grants for provincial health units; early development of the St. Lawrence waterway by treaty between Canada and the United States; curtailment of assistance to immigrants; proposal that estimates be considered by special standing committees before submission to committee of the whole and interim credits for agriculture—all these are scheduled for discussion on the floor of the House of Commons at the session to open in February.

Cannot Purchase Seed Oats

Department Of Agriculture In Saskatchewan Reaches Limit Of Authority

Saskatoon. — "The Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture has reached the limit of its authority to purchase seed oats," says a letter received by the United Farmers of Canada from the field crops at Regina.

"If, however," says the letter, "any of your members wish to submit their holdings with a view to any possible subsequent purchases, they should submit a full quart sample to the office of the field crops branch and at the same time send a sample to the Dominion Seed Branch, at Saskatoon, for a germination test."

Sixteen Executed Last Year

Ottawa.—According to official figures just made public, 16 people were executed in Canada last year—seven in Quebec, four in Ontario, three in Saskatchewan, one in Alberta, and one in British Columbia.

The Canadian Conscience

Dominion Exchequer In Receipt Of Money From Anonymous Senders

Ottawa, Ont.—The Canadian conscience is improving. The year 1929 will mark payment into the Dominion exchequer of more than $500 in conscience money. Two dollars is the usual amount gnawing at the conscience of the sender.

From east, west, north and south, with only the post office stamp indicating the place origin, envelopes containing "conscience money" have been reaching the department of finance. The sender takes little or no chance of its identity being disclosed. Government officials never seek to find out.

Bills are usually wrapped in blank note paper. Seldom, if ever, is the nature of the indebtedness revealed by the sender. But, occasionally, a terse note with the words customs on smuggled goods or income tax accompanies the money.

New Year's, Christmas and Easter are the greatest "revenue" periods for Canada from this source.

GENERAL SMUTS HAS FAITH IN THE WORK OF LEAGUE

Ottawa.—The League of Nations and its astounding development along lines never contemplated by those responsible for its establishment, furnished the theme of an interview accorded by General Jan Christian Smuts, former prime minister of South Africa, to newspapermen who called upon him at the home of Sir Robert Borden, wartime premier of Canada. The distinguished South African reached Ottawa on his first visit to Canada, and will be Sir Robert's guest during his stay.

Soldier, statesman and scholar, General Smuts is one of the romantic figures of empire history. In arms against Great Britain thirty years ago, he is now one of the bulwarks of British authority and one of the strongest protagonists of the British connection. General Smuts recalled the Boer War to the newspapermen somewhat whimsically. According them permission to smoke, he himself refused the offer of a cigar, asserting his own non-smoking disposition.

"I haven't smoked for 30 years," he said with a smile. "Not since you Canadians and the British made tobacco so expensive and so hard to get during the Boer War."

"How do you square your conscience with that attitude and the general desire of South Africa to boost its tobacco products?" asked one of the reporters.

"My conscience doesn't trouble me on that score," replied General Smuts.

During the late war General Smuts served with Van Deventer in German South Africa and was later transferred to East Africa to command the British in succession to General Sir Horace Smith. "It is an interesting phase of his distinguished career," he declared that his recent meeting in London with his old enemy and friend, General Von Lettow-Vorbeck, who had commanded the German forces in East Africa, was one of the greatest things he had ever experienced.

"I believe a reunion of that character will do a great deal of good, for it will indicate more than anything else the changed mentality of the world."

"I am here under the auspices of the League of Nations primarily," said General Smuts, in answer to another question. "But I welcomed the opportunity to visit Canada and the United States for the reason that I have not been on this continent before."

He will visit Montreal, Toronto, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and Cincinnati.

"The League of Nations," he said, "has developed along lines that were totally unforeseen by those who established it ten years ago. It is like a tree. You plant a seed, but you have no indication just in what fashion that seed will grow. So with the League. We did not foresee ten years ago just the form it has taken today. But its greatest value has lain in the fact that it provides a forum in which the representatives of the nations can sit around a table and discuss their problems. More than that, it makes this practice habitual. And once you get people talking out their troubles around the table, then the war mentality disappears."

California's orange crop would all a train of box cars extending from Boston to New York, and six miles beyond.

SOVIET PAPER ATTACKS LABOR GOVERNMENT

London, England.—A section of the London press expressed agitation over the publication in a new communist daily here, of a purported message from the headquarters of the communist international, in Russia, denouncing the Labor Government and urging on the proletariat a class struggle.

The Evening News goes so far as to say that a diplomat's crisis of first importance is threatened "because of the breaking of the pledge given by the Russian ambassador, in London, that no revolutionary propaganda would be sent to this country."

The News says it understands that Prime Minister MacDonald is emphasizing personally into the matter, that foreign office officials are studying the message and a copy of the paper containing it and that the question of any action to be taken will be the subject of conferences in the next few days.

Canada Exporting More Manufactured Goods

Review Shows Great Increase For Year Just Closed

Ottawa.—Canada is exporting more manufactured and semi-manufactured goods now than ever before. At the same time, largely because of the stoppage in the selling of wheat, there has been a marked decrease in the total volume of exports of raw materials. Annual reviews, setting forth the trade situation for the year, were prepared by Hon. James Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The review points out that industrial activity, measured by exports, was at record high level in the year just closed. Industrial employment was at a generally higher level than in 1928; construction contracts were at a higher peak than ever before; the aggregate value of cheques passed through chartered banks was the highest in the history of Canada; a new high record of money was invested by the public in life insurance policies and production in basic industries such as iron and steel, newsprint, coal and coke, mining, automobiles and electric energy all showed substantial increase over previous years.

The minister announces further that while the department of trade and commerce has already done much to supply necessary channels for Canadian manufactures and producers to export their wares, namely, a trade commissioners' service, further extensions in the direction are being planned for the immediate future.

Japan Wants Adequate Navy

But Is Not Seeking Equal Parity With U. S.

Ottawa.—The views of the Japanese Government on the disarmament conference, to be held this month, were expressed by Hon. I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada, in an interview here. In a quiet manner, Mr. Tokugawa, who recently returned to Tokyo, outlined the views of his government in the following manner:

"The motto expressing Japan's requirements is 'adequate for defence; inadequate for aggression,' he said."

Japan does not seek equal parity with British or the United States navy. The national conviction of Japan is that her minimum defence strength expressed in terms of ratio is 70 per cent. of the strength to be maintained by the strongest navy."

Japan is opposed to the abolition of submarines, the minister declared. In the first place, submarines are a type of warfare necessary for the defence of a nation having an inferior naval strength."

Japan is willing to abandon the existing program of having more submarines than at present, but deems it necessary to retain practically the same strength as she actually possesses."

Finds New Territory

Australian Explorer Discovers Unknown Land In Antarctica

Montevideo, Uruguay.—The government radio service has announced receipt of a message saying that Sir Hubert Wilkins, Australian explorer, had discovered territories previously unknown in his last flight over the southern Polar ice cap. Details of the new lands were not given, as the message came from the steamer "Melville" which carried the explorer to Deception Island, which he uses as his base.

What Makes Good Toast?

THAT plate of crisp, hot-buttered toast for breakfast carries good cheer through the day. But do you know that it is the presence of sugar in Bread that gives the delicate golden-brown bloom and beguiling flavor in toasting?

MOTHER'S BREAD
baked with an extra amount of cane-sugar makes perfect toast. It coaxes back the appetite — starts the day right — delights your family at any meal.
